OUR CALLING CARD —

This booklet will introduce you to the State Advisory Council on Vocational and Technical Education, and to the members. The strength and integrity of the members, both individually and collectively, constitute the value of the Council.

The membership of the Council is gradually rotated over the years, bringing on new members with fresh perspectives, while retaining a continuity of interest. The Council continues to represent an active, hard-working group whose decisions reflect the input of the members.

This booklet was prepared to provide an overview of the Council. Please feel welcome at any time to contact any of the members or the Council office with your concerns or ideas concerning vocational and technical education.

AUTHORIZATION

In recognition of the importance of the nation's occupational training requirements, the Ninetieth Congress of the United States passed the Vocational Education Amendments (P.L. 90-576) which establishes in each state a State Advisory Council on Vocational Education.

Section 104(b) (1) of the Vocational Education Amendments of 1968 states: "Any state which desires to receive a grant under this title for any fiscal year shall establish a state advisory council, which shall be appointed by the Governor . . ."

The South Carolina Advisory Council was created in 1969 by Governor Robert E. McNair, who made the first appointments and by Executive Order established the Advisory Council. Each year the Governor makes the appointments of the members and certifies these appointments to the U.S. Commissioner of Education. Governor James B. Edwards is the appointing authority. As established, the Council functions as an independent state agency.

The scope of the Advisory Council in South Carolina is broadened to include equal responsibilities to the State Board for Vocational Education which is the State Board of Education, and to the State Board for Technical and Comprehensive Education.

The State Advisory Council, by mandate and by precedence, regards vocational education and technical education as essentially co-equals in the delivery system of occupational education. Accordingly, the Council works closely with both agencies. This pattern of working with both agencies predates the enactment of the Educational Amendments of 1972, which provided specific charge to the Council for postsecondary occupational education.

SCOPE AND DUTIES

According to P.L. 90-576, the State Advisory Council shall advise the State Board on the development of and policy matters arising in the administration of the State Plan; evaluate vocational education programs, services and activities in the broad sense; and prepare and submit an annual evaluation report. As constituted in this state, the State Advisory Council on Vocational and Technical Education has responsibility to the total vocational and technical education programs conducted in South Carolina.

The major functions of the Council are those given below.

TO ADVISE . . .

The Council shall advise the State Board of Education on the development of and policy matters arising in the administration of the State Plan including the preparation of long-range and annual program plans.

TO EVALUATE . . .

The Council shall evaluate vocational education programs, services and activities, and publish and distribute the results thereof.

TO REPORT . . .

The Council shall submit through the State Board to the U.S. Commissioner of Education and to the National Advisory Council on Vocational Education an annual evaluation report.

CHAIRPERSON —

Person having special knowledge, experience or qualifications with respect to the special educational needs of physically or mentally handicapped persons.

Mrs. Helen G. Stuart

P. O. Box 277

Murrells Inlet, South Carolina 29576

Mrs. Stuart has a wealth of experience in the needs of physically and mentally handicapped persons. In her varied career, Mrs. Stuart has been a member of the National Field Staff of the Girl Scouts of America, and the National Field Staff of the United Cerebral Palsy Association. Her A.B. degree in psychology is from the University of Miami, and she has pursued graduate study at LaSalle University, the New York Institute of Photography, and the University of Chicago.

In September, 1972, Mrs. Stuart's accomplishments were honored when the first Halfway House in South Carolina for mentally retarded girls was named "Stuart Manor" in her honor. She serves on the Advisory Council on Deaf-Blind Children for the Department of Education, and the Advisory Committee for the Office of the Handicapped, State Department of Education. She serves as Chairman of the Advisory Committee for the University of South Carolina College of Education on the Teacher Education Programs of Handicapped. Mrs. Stuart was the Governor's appointee to the South Carolina Developmental Disabilities Council. Helen Stuart has studied law, and is listed in several editions of Leaders in American Science, Personalities in the South, International Biography of Leaders, Who's Who in World Leadership (Women), and in the Who's Who of American Women.

Helen Stuart is active in numerous professional associations, and is Past President of the South Carolina Council for Independent Health Organizations. A former Executive Director of the South Carolina Association for Retarded Children, Mrs. Stuart serves as consultant Director of the Hypertension Control Program and Director of Program Development for the South Carolina Heart Association, and as an independent consultant in related fields. She is a member of the society for Heart Association Professional Staff and the International Platform Association.

Mrs. Stuart's leadership capabilities have been recognized by the members of the Council when she was recently elected by the members to serve a third term as Chairperson for the State Advisory Council.
